The Republicans of this town have made a strong canvass in the campaign, and are confident of victory. On Friday night the Democrats gave out that there was $1.00 on Van Wyck awaiting some venturesome Republican who might wish to back his belief in Colonel Respectif's election. A prominent Republican lender of the town at once placed that sum in the hands of County Committeeman John E. Jengths, who since then has been vainly sear-hing for he man who wanted to bet on Van Wyck. Small bets of $100 or less have been made by Republicans on Roosevelt wherever offered, but the Democrats, who began betting as a "bluff," have weakened, and are not now backing their opinions on the result of election on a cash basis.

PEEKSKILL

James Irving Burns, for Congress: George Hope Mairs, for Senator: James Kellogg Apgar, for Assembly: Dr. Perley Hugh Mason, for Coroner, and Leverett Finan Crumb, for County Clerk, all made a thorough canvasa of the town and village all day, and were well pleased with the results. Senator Burns told a Tribune reporter that he had no deals of this election. Mr. Angar was equally confident. It is expected that Cortlandtown will give a majority of from three hundred to four hundred for the entire Republican teket to-day. If all the towns in the county will do as well as Pekkiskill there need be no fear.

Aylmr Maude, a disciple of Tolstol, was estaged in business in Moscow, and became interested in these people. Through his influence and energy, added to that of Tolstol, an attempt at colonization in Canada has begun. In Canada each man is to have sixteen acres of land and a shed to live in until houses can be built, and provisions for a time at least. Maude was in Chicage recently, and is now in Rhinebeck, N. Y. making preparations for a colony there. Later he will return to England, where he will superintend the colonization of a portion of the refugees outside of London.

According to the edict all of the sect who leave the country must get out within two years, and it is to hasten their departure that the committee yas appointed in Philadelphia. The membets are William Dean Howells, Jane Addams, of Chicago, William Lloyd Garrison, of Boston, the Rev. Dr. George Dana Boardrean, of Philadelphia, N. O.
